

Human Perfect

In the android business, the best of the best are Human Perfect. For as long as she can remember, Christa has hated androids. The texture of plastiflesh skin and the non-smell of the animate machines jars her senses. Don't even get her started on robots, or worse -- the androids that look human. Her job as a corporate spy for the android maker Innersoul puts her in touch with the creatures every day, but also lets her judge them. When she runs into Humancopy Progress Rep Tom Karellys, she can't believe her luck. Using a cover identity, Christa shares dinner with him, and the two discuss androids. It soon becomes apparent Tom is not what he seems, and Christa must decide whether he's a trustworthy human, a Human Perfect android, or something she never, ever considered.
