

Divine Rescue from Mankinds Final Crisis

Whereas Gods intervention has traditionally been portrayed as sudden and judgemental, this publication brings an assurance for the future for everyone - regardless of their beliefs. It looks at the climate crisis which is acknowledged as a terminal threat to Mankind, more dangerous than anything we have faced before. For the first time, we see the prospect of the end of our race on the horizon. The solution to this seemingly intractable problem stems from the wider context which surrounds it. The Heavens always knew that we would become the architects of our own demise. This has been the theme of the Bible our learning the truth of Gods counsel that we could not survive without Him. Now all that remains is for our race to acknowledge that we need His help. As we return to our Heavenly Father, He will rush out to catch the Prodigal Son Mankind before it falls and welcome it back en masse into His family. The message of this book is that Gods intervention is not a judgement, but a Divine Rescue for everyone alive. Our rescue is based on neither religion nor belief, but on Mankinds need alone. This clear and comforting text lifts the fog from Gods reputation, revealing a supremely benevolent and just character which the reader cannot fail to find attractive. The key to our rescue like the key to real life is our relationship with God. All credit for this publication is due to our Heavenly Father
