

Twilight In The Desert

There's a place where we find the unexpected and the unexplained. It's called... The Twilight Zone! This book lands the characters in that zone of the unexpected and the unexplained! First everyone disappears except them, but nothing else changes. Stunned, they try to figure out what happened, leading them on an adventure into the city of Las Vegas. But when the people return, the buildings are gone, along with modern technology. And who are these people, anyway? Without waiting too long to find out they flee across the desert with pursuit on their tail. Are they dreaming? Losing their minds? Will we ever know for sure? It was fun to write, says author Susan Gregersen. There are no rules in a book like this. Anything goes!
