

Montana Alliance

From the ashes of a world-wide nuclear and biological war, Montanans struggle to survive in a feudal, agrarian state where highway travelers are both recruited and preyed upon. Two emerging forces collide.

A Bitterroot Valley alliance, modeled after Israel's Kibbutzim farm communes, struggles against the machinations of a ruthless syndicate determined to establish cattle ranches and trading companies modeled after the Hudson Bay Trading Company. Conflict and bloodshed arise when democratic socialism collides with the entrepreneurial vision of a man determined to control the most important element known to mankind. Caught in the middle of this open warfare, Track plays his own hand in the future of Montana in a game of high stakes poker, but when he meets Claire, a military trained operative who instructs religious communities and secular organizations in clandestine resistance to feudal warlords, all bets are off.
