

New Dawn

When you're 200 trillion miles from home ... With mankind on the brink of economic collapse, a population growing at an unmanageable rate and a limited supply of natural resources, there is only one place we can look to for our future ... the stars. A deep space mining tug is sent to a planet codenamed New Dawn to begin a mission to relocate humanity. ... the only person you can trust ... is you. The mission falls into chaos when a crewmember dies unexpectedly. Geologist Jake Brooks must keep his wits about him to uncover what really happened but are the confines of the ship clouding his judgment? Is there really a sinister motive behind the death and the mission or is he letting his mind get the better of him? What really awaits him on New Dawn? He must push on to reveal the truth, no matter who or what stands in his way ... Please note: New Dawn is not a hard sci-fi novel. Here's what people are saying about New Dawn: The suspense is killing me! A perfect ending. A whodunit in space!
