

L.A.U.G.H.: Using Humor and Play to Help Clients Cope with Stress, Anger, Frustration, and more. Includes Reproducible Book and CD

This book provides therapists and counselors with sixty, easy-to-use and effective activities to help clients let go of negative thoughts and behavior, alter their attitude, and find more humor in both their specific situation and in their life in general. Many of these time-tested exercises have been utilized over a twenty-year period in the authors keynote and workshop presentations to show audiences how to find and use humor in not-so-funny times. Humor can be a powerful therapeutic tool and this collection of unique, innovative activities/exercises will be a beneficial, new tool for counselors and therapists. Activities are reproducible and the book includes a CD of all exercises for easy printing.
