

Terror at Long Lake

Northern Manitoba, early fall For hundreds of years the Native peoples have told of monsters in the woods and waters. Viet Nam veteran Terry Larson has been to this remote place several times and has never seen anything more monstrous than a twelve-pound Northern Pike with a mouthful of very impressive teeth. But on this trip, he will come face-to-face with something unlike anything he has ever encountered, something that is intent on killing him, and he will discover that there are monsters here. Unexpectedly, he will also meet a young woman who, like him, is hoping to spend a few quiet days at an isolated lake. Soon they will be fighting for their lives.
