

Turtledome

When we finally start building stations on the moon, it won't just be scientists and astronauts and engineers. We'll also have students and trainees earning serious credits for their internships. A team of young scouts travels to Luna to help build the largest dome yet. But what if everything on Luna is not what it appears to be? And what if the scouts are not just scouts either? In this Heinlein-inspired novella, the future isn't what it used to be.
